

OFFICIAL LETTER OF POSTPONEMENT
ECIO 2020

Vienna, March 12, 2020

This is to confirm that the European Conference on Interventional Oncology (ECIO) 2020 will not take place as originally planned from April 26-29, 2020 in Nice, France, but has been postponed to take place from November 2-5, 2020 in Nice, France.

We regret any inconvenience this may cause the involved parties, but are confident that everyone involved understands that this decision had to be made due to the continuing spread of the COVID-19 epidemic throughout Europe, the unknown nature of the virus and the uncertainty of possible further restrictions on travel and gatherings in the affected areas including ECIO's host country France.

We ask for your understanding that the postponement of ECIO 2020 is in the best interest of the general public, as our community of doctors and other healthcare professionals are much needed in these challenging times and their availability to help the general public cannot be compromised.

We therefore ask you to honour all travel refund requests from ECIO 2020 attendees.
