Dear corporate partners,

Since its inception, Interventional Radiology (IR) has continually innovated modern medicine with a unique cutting-edge technical approach. As a consequence, it has grown immensely as a clinical specialty providing treatments for a wide range of indications and pathologies. With this development, however, also comes the need to grow the number of Interventional Radiologists (IRs) and IR services in hospitals. One of CIRSE's top priorities for the coming years will therefore be to further establish and advance IR and improve patient access to the treatments it offers.

As the primary representative of IR in Europe and a strong advocate of IR globally, CIRSE strives to continue its leadership of the IR community, staying on the forefront of knowledge, technology, and trends. With this in mind, the CIRSE leadership introduced in 2024 its vision for IR:

Focus on Clinical Services and Patient Care

IRs should strive to be clinically involved in patient management and patient care, including participation in MDT decision making. They should have access to resources and infrastructure required to provide the best clinical services to their patients. Staff planning should consider the specific requirements for IR practice in addition to diagnostic imaging.

Focus on Therapies and Treatment

IRs should aim to focus on IR only and the involvement in diagnostic imaging should be centred around IR patients and consultations during MDTs. Purely diagnostic imaging services independent of their IR practice should be minimized.

Focus on Training and Excellence in IR

IRs should be well-trained physicians, being able to master high complexity interventional therapies. Training in IR should include sufficient clinical training allowing IRs to become the best physicians they can be for their patients.

The CIRSE vision for IR aims to support the growth of the clinical specialty by promoting structured and specific IR education and training to empower IRs to consistently operate at the highest level.

In order for CIRSE's mission to succeed, all involved stakeholders are invited to add their support to jointly take interventional radiology further.

Corporate membership is one of the options manufacturers in the field have to further strengthen the alliance with CIRSE's worldwide community of healthcare providers, and we look forward to collaborating with you, our corporate members, to continue building this vision for better care together.

Building Better Care

In this brochure, you will find the way to go about supporting the CIRSE Society as a CIRSE Corporate Member.

We are glad to have several Silver corporate members continuously supporting CIRSE’s activities. This package is also a good starting option for those who would like to join us as a new CIRSE Corporate Member.

For our long-standing Silver corporate members that wish to take a next step in our joint efforts to bring Interventional Radiology into mainstream practice, the two next corporate membership levels, Gold and Platinum, are ideal for an upgrade and provide further benefits.

For our partners wishing to become more proactive and increase their presence throughout CIRSE’s meetings and communications, the benefits offered in our Gold package are fitting.

And for those who want to join forces with CIRSE and be included in regular interactive exchanges with the leaders of the society as well as our Platinum corporate members, our Platinum package includes two permanent seats at the Corporate partner Committee for the Advancement of IR (AIR Committee).

We look forward to hearing from you soon if you are interested in joining us with the opportunities described in this brochure. The future is bright, and we are eager to continue and foster mutually beneficial relationships as we work together for the advancement of Interventional Radiology!

CIRSE's Corporate Partner Committee for the Advancement of IR (AIR)

Achieving the vision for Interventional Radiology is a challenging goal for CIRSE to accomplish alone, strong alliances with our corporate partners are key as we work together to build this vision.

Thus, to nurture these alliances a new committee was established in 2024: the CIRSE's Corporate Partner Committee for the Advancement of IR (AIR).

The AIR Committee consists of the members of the CIRSE Executive Board, the CIRSE events SPC Chairpersons, the CIRSE Online Education Committee Chairperson and the Chairpersons of our Endovascular Therapy and our Oncology Alliance Subcommittees as well as our Platinum Corporate Members.

We invite our Platinum Corporate Members to send two of their senior leadership to participate in this open, yet confidential platform for strategic discussions on the advancement of IR and how to improve the access to IR care in Europe and globally.

The Committee meets in-person once or twice a year either as standalone meetings or in connection to major CIRSE events.

We look forward to shaping the future of Interventional Radiology together with you!
